Getting to Know US

Learning who we are is like applying new makeup to an old face. Within Forgotten Angels Rescue and Education Center, you'll find people who you've personally known or heard about over the years. We are all friends doing what we do best, trying to make the world a safer place for all animals. Some of us rescue and place potbellied pigs who have lost their homes or been abandoned. Others of us work to help animals such as dogs, cats, and farm animals.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS

Soon we will be sitting down to a Thanksgiving dinner with family and friends and in just one short month we will be celebrating the birth of the Savior. While we are enjoying the fruit of our labors, let's not forget the animals who are in our care or in the care of others. With the world economy being down, those animals need us now more than ever.

Open up not only your hearts but your purse and help a sanctuary or rescue near you. Let's make the world, for just one day, a safer place for all the animals that depend upon us humans for love, food and shelter. Working together we can make it a safer place for them. A place where they can feel the love and the gentle spirit that so many of us share towards the animals.

THE EDUCATIONAL POST

We are united in a strong belief that no animal should have to live in fear, filth, or be without food, water and shelter.

As a consequence, a decision was made that we would band together to work for a common cause while trying to make the world a safer place for all animals. Too often people don't understand the fear, depression and even anger that an animal feels when it loses its home, doesn't have enough to eat or even a place to get clean water...all things that most of us take for granted. These animals can do nothing to help themselves...they have no voice. They need each of us to speak up for them, and that's just what we plan to do.

We need your help. We can't do it without each of you. We can lay the ground work and help get the word out, but even then we need more willing hands to come forth and say, "I want to be involved. I want to make a difference." Together we can make that difference but none of us can do it alone. We all need each other. By reaching out we begin a chain reaction that will bring in even more help, then some more help, and so on it goes.

Please contact us at info@farec.org to see what and how you can be a part in making the world a safer place for all animals. Let's do it together...there is strength in numbers.
